

Executive Summary

Inside the School Online Seminar: Ten Things that Successful New Teachers Do

All new teachers need support. The first year of teaching can be described as a “trial by fire.” Educators in their second year are trying new approaches, but mostly, still learning their craft. Statistics show that 50% of educators leave the profession by their fifth year, so there are definitely strong challenges in the third and fourth years.

Providing newer teachers with support seminars earlier in their careers can be very beneficial, and Ten Things that Successful New Teachers Do provides all you need for such seminar. Presenter Mary C. Clement will take you through steps to prepare for special days of the year, review successful classroom management plans, learn how to document teaching successes and more.

After viewing Ten Things that Successful New Teachers Do, teachers will have practical, hands-on ideas for:

- Preparing for the first day of student attendance
- What to do the first day
- Classroom management plans and strategies that work
- Learning all about their students, their interests, and their academic backgrounds
- How to keep good records and how to document their teaching successes
- How to get the most from a mentor
- Improved teaching strategies
- Stress management

Who should attend?

- Administrators
- Department chairs
- Lead teachers
- Teachers early in their careers
- Mentors
- Curriculum directors
- New and returning mentors
- All who work with mentoring

About the Presenter:

Mary C. Clement is a professor of teacher education at Berry College in Georgia. She is the author of seven books, including How to Interview, Hire, and Retain High-Quality New Teachers and Building the Best Faculty. She has presented on the topic of teacher hiring at national ASCD, NAESP, Kappa Delta Pi, and Phi Delta Kappa conferences. A high school foreign language teacher for eight years, Clement received her doctorate from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign before entering higher education.

Presentation Date/Time:

This 60-minute video seminar will be available on-demand anytime between October 25, 2010 and October 31, 2010.

How does an online seminar work?

An Inside the School online seminar is delivered entirely over the Internet. No telephone connection is needed. You simply connect to a private link that will be emailed to you and access the seminar online through your computer. The seminar is presented in a special browser window that features a slide show presentation in one panel and sound and playback controls in another panel.

The seminar can be viewed on a single computer screen or be projected onto a larger one for a group setting.

What is included in the $249 registration price?

All seminars are priced per school, not per person. Yes, you read that correctly – your entire school can receive this great training for one flat low price!

The registration price includes access to the seminar and useful handouts that you can copy and distribute to all the teachers at your school.

And not only that, but because we understand the chaotic schedules teachers often endure, we leave the seminar link up for one full week, so you can access it at your convenience. You can watch it during your preparation hours at school or even from your own home.

If you'd like to have access to the online seminar for longer than one week, CDs and transcripts of the program will be available.

All of our products have a satisfaction guaranteed policy. It's simple – if you are not satisfied with your Inside the School product you can contact us and we'll refund your money. No questions asked.
